Chrysanthemums

Preface

TO MY MANY FLOWER-MINDED FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.—Well, it is time to prepare another catalogue 1954 this time. My! How time does "fly". It seems only a short time back when I was preparing the 1953 catalogue. Again I must report that despite another extremely dry summer the mums came through with flying colors—had a yardful of blooms from early fall on until just before Christmas (when we had our first severe cold spell). Also, I must admit that I had practically no trouble with the Thrip this year—probably due to the thorough dustings I gave the garden. I used a mixture of DDT, Chlordane and Fermate, and "fogged" the garden three times; once just as the plants started to set buds, again when the buds were well set, and finally just as the buds started to show color. It certainly worked and I intend to use the same "medicine" again this year and hope it will work as well. If you have had trouble with the Thrip (and many people have and don't know it), you might try a similar program, as these materials are all easily obtainable.

BLOOMING DATES

Blooming dates are very much desired by most people who grow mums outside (as most of my customer-friends do), and I have included them. However, they are approximations only and I have leaned over backwards in trying not to convey the wrong impression as to blooming dates. If there is any error it will be that the variety blooms earlier (not later) than the date I have given. In figuring blooming dates for your locality, remember the blooming date advances as one goes north and recedes as one goes south. For instance a variety in full bloom here will not reach a similar stage in New Orleans until a week later. This should enable you to adjust the dates to your locality. However, just in case I have "leaned over backwards" a little too much in some cases I would appreciate it if you would write me at blooming time, stating how the different varieties behaved for you and the date each variety was in full bloom—not just showing color. By doing this, and enabling me to correct any errors in blooming dates, you may enable some one to buy a variety they thought would not bloom for them, or—on the other hand, keep some one from wasting money on a variety that blooms too late for their locality.

DELIVERY DATES AND TYPE OF PLANTS

Delivery will be made this spring—from the last of March on, and will consist of small "plants"—not the ordinary "rooted cutting" that requires potting up and growing on some time before they can be set in their permanent location. The plants I will ship you may be either a root division taken off and grown in a cold frame until it has reach the "plant" stage, or a rooted cutting that has been grown in a cold frame until it also has reached the "plant" stage. In either case the plants may be set in their permanent location promptly on arrival. They will be shipped bare root, wrapped in damp moss and then carefully packed in excelsior. When the weather warms up holes wil be cut in the package to provide good ventilation. In the far western tier of states shipment by air is strongly recommended, and if you desire this please be sure to include sufficient postage to cover air shipment. Air shipment is not nearly as expensive as would appear at first glance, as plants so shipped are shipped in cellophane bags without any packing material whatever. Since they stay cool while en route they can be shipped across the United States and arrive at destination just as fresh as when they started their journey—yet not a particle of packing material is around the roots. In fact, year before

Should any one of your readers wish a copy of this catalogue one will be sent time now (hope the present Congress "pushes up" the pension a combined Government service of 37 years, so can retire any I have long been employed by the Air Force - in fact have last I shipped a package so packed to Namur, Belgium. Last year I shipped another package to Belgium—and both arrived in good condition. This year I will ship to Japan as well, and do not anticipate any trouble.

PACKING AND TRANSPORTATION COSTS

Now this careful packing takes TIME, MATERIAL and STAMPS for parcel post, as all small orders will go forward by prepaid parcel post (large orders at special prices will go by express, COLLECT). To cover this expense I am asking each customer to add 50c to the total of the order when the same is $5.00 or less to cover transportation and packing costs. In cases where the order runs from $5.00 to $10.00 please add 75c to the order, and $1.00 when the order amounts to more than $10.00. This arrangement has worked out reasonably well in the past, but since the parcel post rates have taken a "tremendous" jump recently I am afraid the 50 cents added to small orders will hardly pay the parcel post charges through zones one and two, with nothing for packing (which I take a pride in and which certainly costs something). If you have made any parcel post shipments lately you will know exactly what I mean when I say they have "really" jumped. However, I will leave the rates the same for 1954, and hope it will work out better than it now appears. I practically always include a few gratis plants with each order, so be generous in your allowance for packing and parcel post charges, and in turn I will promise to be "generous" with extra plants.

QUANTITY PRICES

If interested in quantity, most standard and not-too-scarce varieties can be furnished in lots of 25 or multiples thereof of one variety at around 15 cents each, but please write me first the varieties you want and how many of each variety, before you order in quantity as some varieties are slow propagators and I could not supply them in quantity at any price. Similarly, dozen lots can usually be shipped at $2.00 per dozen but again I must know in advance what varieties you wish. Also, please remember that the above quantity prices apply only when you order the 25 or 12 plants of one variety—when ordered a plant or so of many different varieties the "each" price prevails no matter how many plants are included in the order.

RAIN-PROOF PLANT LABELS

While I am so very careful to label each plant that I ship correctly and recommend to all my customer-friends that they permanently mark each variety, I receive each fall a number of letters from customers who wish me to identify a certain bloom that they particularly like—stating usually that they just left the paper label on the plant and naturally it was not there when the plant bloomed. Since so many customers don't permanently label their mums, last year I started using a new type of label—a paper label it is true, but one that is "water resistant," and as a result these labels will be on the plant in the fall at blooming time and the typewritten name will be legible. This label seems to be solving the problem of variety names at blooming time, and so I will use it in the future—in fact, I have had my name and address printed on one side of the label. However, don't depend on these paper labels too much (as good as they really are, occasionally a label will be lost). So to be on the safe side permanently mark each variety—I won't let a plant stay in my garden if I do not know the name of it. And, speaking of "labeling," that naturally brings up the matter of correct labeling.

CORRECT LABELING OF PLANTS

I realize that there seems to be a kind of "racket" in the mum business, and that quite often when you order a very definite variety, and give the plants unusually good attention during the growing season, you may be rewarded in the fall by very inferior blooms—undoubtedly not the variety you ordered although the plant bore the correct name on the label. Unfortunately, nature seems to have unintentionally aided in this "racket," as with few exceptions it is impossible to tell one variety from another in the young plant or cutting stage. Fully realizing this, I have resolved to make my little mum business unique in that you will get what you order, or if you permit substitutions to correctly label the plant or plants I ship. Most of my business now is repeat orders—so that policy must be appreciated by discriminating flower-friends.

To carry out this policy it is necessary that I personally gather, label, pack and ship each order myself (which necessarily limits it to a small volume), and in return I would appreciate a postcard stating the condition of the plants on arrival, as well as any suggestions you may have towards improving my packing methods. (I have received some good suggestions from customers.)

However, being human, an occasional error will occur, and in such cases I would prefer to know about it—rather than be judged guilty of deliberate mis-labeling. Last year, despite my best efforts, I did ship an order to the correct city and street address—but wrong state. (Am certainly glad she let me know she did not get her shipment so I could replace it promptly.)

WARRANTY

During my over 20 years experience in dealing with the public I have found only rare instances of dishonesty—practically all people who grow flowers are scrupulously honest, but in order to protect myself in these rare instances I wish it distinctly understood that I give no warranty, expressed or implied, as to description, quality or productiveness of any plants I send out.

With the above explanation and under the conditions stated, I am offering limited quantities of the mum varieties listed within.

F. A. SPIVEY P. O. Box 574, Montgomery, Alabama

P. S.—As a personal favor to me, after you have signed your name, PLEASE print your name immediately underneath the written signature. I have lost far too much religion trying to figure out people's names, and I am sure you will agree that no one has any religion to lose.

P. P. S.—I have received a world of comment on the above postscript, but I still stick to my guns that nothing makes me lose my religion quicker than trying to figure out a half-legible signature. I guess I will never know why a person will very carefully print out the variety RAYONANTE (and often describe the bloom too), and then when the order is finished sign it with a signiture that looks just about like a hen's scratching. It apparently never occurs to them that all I need to identify the variety RAYONANTE is the first few letters; whereas I will need to know every letter of their names or the package may not reach them. However, such is human nature, and I don't suppose it can be changed, so just for my sake PLEASE CONTINUE TO PRINT YOUR NAME BENEATH YOUR WRITTEN SIGNATURE.

NOTE: The few descriptive words I have used following each variety name in the lists below are not intended to be a real description of the variety—it would take a number of lines to do this and the printer's bill would be "a whopper". They are merely intended to be just a "guide" to those not familiar with the different varieties. (Fortunately, a majority of my customer-friends are reasonably familiar with many different varieties, and for those just the variety name would be sufficient.)

ENGLISH VARIETIES

Now about the English chrysanthemums we have been hearing so much about. What are their merits and history? Well, it seems that they came over from England to western Canada years ago, and from there spread over the United States. Even as late as 1941 few varieties were outside the State of Washington. Since then they have moved fast and with ever increasing popularity in the central and northern states. This popularity is largely due to the fact that most of the English varieties bloom well in advance of the really "big" mums seen in the florists' windows each fall. Consequently, in localities where the real large mums cannot be quently, in localities where the real large mums cannot be grown outside (without considerable protection) the English strain will often mature blooms, and while these blooms are not quite as large as the "exhibition" or "football" types, they do afford fairly large blooms in localities where the truly "big" mums cannot be grown outside. That, I think, is the principal reason for their popularity, as in the far south (where exhibition varieties can be grown outside) the English varieties are not nearly so popular. I know because I ship mum plants all over the United States, and I do not ship nearly as many to the extreme southern tier of states as farther north. However, since they do fill a distinct need in certain sections where earliness is important, I imagine I will add a few from time to time and likewise drop a few. For reasons stated I am not overly fond of them and will never let them replace the old tried and true varieties—such as the Turners, Fricks, etc. Another reason against them as the Turners, Fricks, etc. Another reason against themfor some reason I have never been able to figure out—there is a swarm of new varieties introduced each year now by different growers, and with a complete disregard of logic they have been given the same names as our old standard varieties. For instance, there is an English Quaker Maid (red) which I won't list as everyone knows the real Quaker Maid is an early white standard. Similarly, there are scores of duplication of names, and I won't clutter my catalogue up with duplicate names—it is hard enough now to keep varieties separate. I wrote and asked one grower about the duplication of names and he said he guessed the English just didn't know any better, but those were the names he bought them under in England. Anyway, you know how I feel about the duplication of names.

POMPONS, BUTTONS, DECORATIVES, CUSHIONS and HARDIES

Note. This caption embraces quite a wide range in sizes of bloom as well as colors and types of bloom—in fact many of the newer hardies produce blooms comparable with the medium-sized standards. When well grown and properly disbudded four and five inch blooms are easily obtained with many of the late hardy introductions.

While the chrysanthemum has long been my true love, I am not prejudiced against other flowers, and when I see something that I particularly like I add it to my collection. It is said that "An honest confession is good for the soul," and so I will confess that during the last two years I have had quite a "love affair" with lilies. It seems to have passed the "puppy love" stage, so I imagine it is serious. Anyway, I am reasonably sure that I will add lilies to my collection, and anticipate a lot of added enjoyment from the association (lilies certainly are regal). This summer I expect I will have a few surplus lily bulbs of some of the better varieties (particularly those originated in the last few years in Oregon), and as I will also have several other items surplus I plan on issuing a supplemental sheet listing the various varieties I can ship during the summer and fall. Now if you, too, are interested in lilies and other bulb flowers, please drop me a postcard stating that you would like this list—otherwise you will not get it as I do not contemplate sending this supplemental list to all my mum customer-friends (some may not be interested in anything else—just as I was when I first started growing mums 25 years ago). If you order any mums you may include a request for this list along with your mum order; if not, then send me a postcard if you want the list.
